SKILLS FOR A RULING INDIA

cross the globe, millions of young people are looking for jobs, and the unemployment rate is alarming. The youth unemployment is structurally high in India. According to the National Sample Survey Organization (NSSO) 70% of the world's learners are affected by school training (TVET) institutions, threatening the continuity of education and training. The TVET sector in India is growing, but it is not able to meet the needs of the workforce. According to the Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, India, the TVET sector needs to create more than 12 million jobs by 2022, which is a huge challenge.

One of the main reasons for the high unemployment rate among the youth is the mismatch between the skills of the workforce and the demands of the labor market. The Indian labor market is facing a significant skills gap, and the youth are not able to find jobs that match their qualifications.

Considering the importance of skills in providing employment opportunities and enabling people to manage their lives better, the Government of India has launched various initiatives to equip and continuously upgrade the skills of the population. The Pradhan Mantri Kaushal Vikas Yojana (PMKVY) is one of the flagship schemes of the Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship (MINISTRY OF SKILLS DEVELOPMENT AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP [MD & E]). The PMKVY is the flagship scheme of the Government of India to achieve the goals of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.

The PMKVY is a public-private partnership company with the primary mandate to train the youth in appropriate skills. The training is designed to equip the youth with the necessary skills to make them employable and to enable them to earn a livelihood.

In conclusion, the Government of India has taken significant steps to address the issue of youth unemployment through the PMKVY. The scheme aims to equip the youth with the necessary skills to make them employable and to enable them to earn a livelihood.

Best regards,
