In the UT, Murmurali said in advance inspection of the hospitals under the KUPWARA

Union Councils. The inspection included those of Ujja PG Girls

Hospital, Residential Quarters for Teaching staff and a Bed

Hospital. While inspecting the hospitals, the Minister expressed satisfaction over the arrangements being made in ICU and cases being treated in accordance with the rules. In talked to the staff of the hospitals, he enquired about the lack of oxygen and reasons for its deficiency. The Minister expressed concern to make every effort for effective isolation of infected people.

He was accompanied by the First Lady Dr Sunita

Sharma. The First Lady went around the newly constructed residential quarters for female medical and nursing students who were staying in the hospitals. She was informed that the new residential quarters would be ready soon and would be handed over to the students.

The Lieutenant Governor appreciated the efforts of the medical team for creating awareness about the corona virus, and other precautionary measures being taken for prevention of the COVID-19 in the Union Territory.

The LG outlined the need for a scientific and sustained trial of herbal medicines, strategies and solutions to the leveraging on the experiences in the growth in the agriculture and its allied sectors for improving our horticulture production in the region and bring it up to the national standards.

He also called for evolving an Organic Farming Policy and enabling the role of diversification through the utilization of fruit, caro, medicinal and aromatic plants, etc.

The LG said that with the increased importance of the agricultural sector besides food security, the JK Government, deporting the University released varieties, which culture raised true to type quality planting material, combined the role of the farmers and agro-entrepreneurs. It was in view of this that JK Government had introduced the JK Agripreneurship Club with the vision of promoting the next generation of entrepreneurs to work for the progress of the rural areas.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

THE BIOLOGICAL WEAPONS CONSPIRACY

Dear Editor,

We can no longer remain silent on the recent surge of media attention on the alleged existence of a biological weapons conspiracy. As citizens of a democratic society, we have a responsibility to question the validity and reliability of such claims.

The media reports of a secret network of state actors involved in developing and deploying biological weapons are further fueling an atmosphere of fear and suspicion. However, it is crucial to distinguish between legitimate research and capabilities in biotechnology and the overt pursuit of biological weapons.

Governments and international bodies must remain vigilant in monitoring the use of biotechnology and ensuring that it is used for peaceful and humanitarian purposes. We urge all stakeholders to promote transparency and accountability in the research and development of biotechnology.

Yours sincerely,

The court ruled that the protest would “pose a threat to public order and good morals.” The court has also ordered the organizers to pay a fine of 200,000 baht and submit a statement of their preparations to the court. The ban is slated to be lifted on Monday.

SETBACK TO CHINA AS RUSSIA SUSPENDS DELIVERIES OF 4,400 MISSILES

MOSCOW: Russia has suspended the shipment of 4,400 S-400 surface-to-air missiles to China due to a contract dispute. The missiles were due to be delivered by March 2021, but Russia said it would not proceed with the delivery due to concerns over China’s behavior in the South China Sea. Russia has said it will seek to sell the S-400s to other countries if China does not meet its obligations under the contract.

SC reserves order on plea for transferring funds collected in PM CARES to NDRF

NEW DELHI, June 27 (PTI) The Supreme Court reserves its order on a plea filed by petitioner NGO Centre for Public Interest Litigation (CPL), saying it will have to hear the matter on Tuesday, when it will issue a notice to the Centre on the issue.

The court on Monday said it will hear the plea on Tuesday, as the Centre has not given any formal response to the PIL.

The petition seeks the transfer of funds collected by the Centre in the PM CARES Fund to the NDRF, a body set up by the government to handle natural disasters.

The Centre has said that the money collected in the PM CARES Fund is meant for the welfare of the people during the COVID-19 pandemic and is not to be used for any other purpose.

The petition argues that the fund is being misused and that the Centre should transfer the money to the NDRF, which is better equipped to handle natural disasters.

The Centre has said that the money collected in the fund is being used to provide relief to people affected by the pandemic, and that it is not appropriate to transfer it to the NDRF.

The petition also says that the Centre should have sought the opinion of the UGC, which is the body that supervises higher education institutions in the country, before making any decisions in this matter.

The court had earlier directed the Centre to file an affidavit on the issue.

The PIL has also sought a direction to the Centre to conduct a forensic audit of the fund to ensure that the money is being used for its intended purpose.

The Centre has said that it has already conducted a forensic audit of the fund and that the report is pending.

The Centre has also said that it has transferred Rs 10,000 crore to the NDRF to be used for the purpose of the fund.

The petition is likely to be heard on Tuesday, when the Centre will have to respond to the PIL.

DLSA Jammu provides ration to 15,000 needy persons

By VI GUPTA

JAMMU: DLSA Jammu on Monday distributed ration to 15,000 needy persons in the District under the scheme of General Relief Department.

Among these, 35 names of debt mutual funds are blacked out.

The austerity, promissory notes and interest on such notes are all at a tangible risk.

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has made it a mandatory requirement for all banks to maintain a cash reserve ratio (CRR) of at least 5% and statutory liquidity ratio (SLR) of at least 25% of their total net demand and time liabilities.

The liquidity ratio is a measure of a bank's ability to meet its obligations as they come due, and it is an important factor in determining a bank's creditworthiness.

The CRR and SLR are two of the major components of the liquidity ratio.

The CRR is the portion of a bank's deposits that it is required to hold in a central bank, while the SLR is the portion of a bank's deposits that it is required to hold in the form of cash or near cash assets.

The higher the CRR and SLR, the more liquid a bank is considered to be, and the less likely it is to experience a liquidity crisis.

Hence, it is crucial for banks to maintain a higher CRR and SLR to ensure that they have enough liquidity to meet their obligations.

The RBI has been increasing the CRR and SLR periodically in recent years, in order to ensure that banks have enough liquidity to meet their obligations.

In addition to the CRR and SLR, banks are also required to maintain a Tier-2 Capital ratio of at least 15% of their risk-weighted assets.

This ratio is a measure of a bank's capital adequacy, and it is important for ensuring that banks have enough capital to absorb losses in the event of a financial crisis.

The higher the Tier-2 Capital ratio, the more capital a bank has, and the more confident investors are that the bank will be able to meet its obligations.

In conclusion, liquidity is a crucial component of a bank's balance sheet, and it is essential for ensuring that banks have enough capital to meet their obligations.

Thus, it is important for banks to maintain a high CRR, SLR, and Tier-2 Capital ratio to ensure that they have enough liquidity to meet their obligations and prevent a liquidity crisis.

India’s cricket superstars

Anil Kumble, former India captain and India’s highest wicket-taker in Test cricket, has said that if “there is any one person who deserves to be known as the greatest athlete in the world”, it would be Roger Federer. He said this during a recent interview with a Swiss newspaper. Emphasising the fact that he was not trying to compare sports, Kumble called Federer “a true icon” who leads by example and has inspired athletes across the globe.
